

The second event in the “National Geographic On Campus!” series will take place on May 7 at Boğaziçi University in Turkey.

The joint event by Sabancı University Istanbul Policy Center, Boğaziçi University Agricultural Platform and National Geographic, will bring together photographer and author Reza Deghati, whose photographs appeared on the covers of various magazines such as National Geographic, Time Magazine and Newsweek, and 2017/18 Mercator-IPC Fellow Barış Karapınar, climate change expert from the United Nations Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change. The panelists will discuss the effects of climate change on food security and poverty.

Climate Change and Our World

Speakers: Reza Deghati & Assoc. Prof. Barış Karapınar

Venue: Boğaziçi University Rectorate Conference Hall, Bebek, İstanbul

Date: Monday, May 7, 2018

Time: 14:00-16:00

NOTE: This event is open to participants from outside the university. Participants need to register for the event using the link below. The event will be held in English

please click here for REGISTRATION